LONDON AMBULANCE GIRLS FULLY EQUIPPED

To protect them from any possible danger from air raids the L. C. C. ambulance girls of London have been completely outfitted, even with shrapnel helmets. These energetic war workers can be seen hurrying throughout London during air raids to aid those who might be victims of the deadly Trencher bombs.

Then we'll join you in the trenches. Join you there to bleed and fall. In our country's righteous struggle. We like you shall offer all.

Though we cannot now be with you, in the trenches winding bend, Yet our prayers shall ever murmur, "God be with you to the end."

The service flag of the High School was unfurled Friday morning at 10:30. The auditorium of the school was packed to its capacity with friends and relatives of the boys who had gone to fight. The High School orchestra furnished the music for the occasion. The program was opened with two stirring selections, after which the audience stood and sang "America," and then, led by the scouts, gave the flag salute. The invocation was delivered by Rev. J. W. Stiles, after which was Prof. Koffman's speech of appreciation to the people for coming to the service. Mrs. L. E. Barnes beautifully sang "Our Glorious Country," and then Miss Arnold, who had known all of the boys and to whom as a whole they were closer than to any one else, presented the service flag to the school as a sacred trust for them to honor and revere forever. The flag was accepted by one of the students. Mrs. Watson read the names of the boys who were in the service of our country. There were about one hundred and twenty names but there were only one hundred and eight stars, because the flag had been made before the other boys had joined, but their stars will be added to the flag as soon as possible. Prof. Koffman read a telegram from Herschel Long thanking the school for placing his star on the flag, showing the same spirit of appreciation which was always so prominent. Miss Ruth Major impressively sang "Keep The Home Fires Burning."

Addresses were delivered by Messrs. W. A. Long and W. O. Soyars. Mr. Long gave a history of the public school movement in Hopkinsville and what it had accomplished and Mr. Soyars delivered a patriotic and pathetic address, on "Our Boys in Khaki."

The closing number was the "Stars and Stripes Forever," by the orchestra. Seven High School boys, Vern Perry, Stanley Lebkuecher, Gilbert Broadman, Earl Morris, Prentice Thomas, Newton Wall, Richard Durrett, left Friday morning for Paris Island. Many of the citizens and most of the students were at the train to tell them farewell but it was a terrible effort to send them away with a smile.

We are glad to welcome Miss Marshall back to school.

High School News

(By Ben King Harned.)

The big German drive, instead of being a hindrance, has given a powerful impetus to the recruiting work. This spirit of patriotism has especially manifested itself in the Hopkinsville High School. During the last few days seven boys have answered the call of our country. These heroic youths were Stanley Lebkuecher, Newton Wall, Richard Durrett, Prentice Thomas, Gilbert Broadman, Earl Morris and Vern Perry.

The chapel exercises on Thursday morning were the last that these boys will probably ever attend, at least the last they will attend for a long while. Professor Koffman made a few remarks of tribute and praise, but could not, as no one could, give them half their share of glory. He voiced the sentiment of all of the students when he said, "They were the very cream of the High School." They were boys who had been prominent figures in our school carnival, loyal supporters of all of our athletic teams, and in fact the very backbone of our foot ball team. They were boys who had done good work in their studies and these are the men whom our country is needing, men who not only are strong physically, but men with mental capacity. Their good traits, which were so prominent in their school work, will assuredly manifest themselves in the battle line. They are boys who are willing to risk anything for their country. The High School will suffer greatly from the loss of these boys, but we are proud of the fact that our school has such a wonderful representation in the trenches. All of these boys joined the Marines and will leave this morning for Nashville and from there they will go to Paris Island for training. Their motto is "We'll fight till the last armed foe retires from the soil of France."

These are our parting words to them: You who lately joined the colors From our loyal student band, We admire your gallant courage, We adore your valiant stand. You have sacrificed relations, Everything that's near and dear, You have gone to fight with nations, Yet you've gone without a fear. All your home ties, all ambitions, Everything you hoped to be, Vanished when you saw your mission, Saw your work across the sea. Others too would like to follow, Follow where your steps have shown, For it is a dreadful feeling To be left here all alone. Yet we're bound by various windings, Partenings which we cannot break, But in time we shall out-grow them, Then we'll follow in your wake.
